

How can you use technical education information to support careers advice?

As a career professional you can:

- promote technical education opportunities to the people you advise
- view over a thousand occupations to help people understand their career options, including apprenticeships, T Levels and Higher Technical Qualifications (HTQs)
- use the occupational progression maps to identify progression opportunities for learners and career changers
- keep updated of current, future and green occupations from employers

